

About the Author

Tom Hansen has been a teacher, curriculum author, and researcher in mathematics and computer education for 30 years. He began teaching in Africa with the Peace Corps, and has taught in Minnesota, Massachusetts, Hawaii, and Iowa. His B.A. and M.A. are in Mathematics Education, and his Ph.D. is in Community Education.

Tom is founder of the Peace Exchange Foundation which has conducted numerous peace exchanges between citizens of Russia and the United States. He has served as a non-governmental representative to sustainable development conferences at the United Nations, and has worked with organizations to help bring about a more peaceful world. He lives in Charlottesville, Virginia, with his wife Jane.